Terms and Conditions

1. This invoice is official proof of customer payment to Red Feng for the transaction linked to the Booking ID shown here.
2. Booking data, payment amount, and package details on this invoice follow the records stored in the Red Feng system when the transaction is created.
3. Payment may be made as a deposit, final settlement, or full payment based on the method selected at checkout.
4. Customer funds are first received and managed by Red Feng in accordance with the applicable escrow and operational process.
5. The payment status shown on this invoice is valid at the time of issuance and may change if the transaction status is updated in the system.
6. Payment gateway fees, taxes, service fees, or other listed charges are borne by the customer based on the rules in effect when the transaction is made.
7. For deposit bookings, the customer must complete the final payment before the stated deadline. Late final payment may cause the booking to be cancelled under the applicable policy.
8. Refund and cancellation requests may only be processed before the H-3 deadline. After H-3, payments are non-refundable.
9. The Booking ID on this invoice can be used to verify the authenticity of the transaction through Red Feng's official verification channel.
10. If there is any difference between this invoice and Red Feng system data, the system data will prevail.

Refund Clause

1. Refund requests can only be processed before the H-3 deadline from the travel date.
2. After the H-3 deadline has passed, all received payments are non-refundable.
3. For refund requests made before H-3, the approved refund may be reduced by admin fees, payment gateway fees, taxes, service fees, or other non-refundable components.
4. Refunds for deposit, final payment, or full payment transactions will be determined based on booking status, request timing, and the operational stage already in progress.
5. Refund requests due to late final payment, no-show, invalid participant data, or booking-policy violations may be rejected in accordance with Red Feng policy.
6. Refund disbursement timing follows internal verification, payment method, and the relevant payment gateway or bank policy.
